

EST/LA, located at Atwater Village Theatre, acknowledges our presence on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded homelands of the Tongva, Chumash, and Kizh people, who resided here and stewarded this land before the city of Los Angeles was formed, and are still living here among us today.

About the Playwright

Halle Charlton is a midsize queer actor/writer living in Brooklyn, New York. Her parents met in a clown class and decided to have a child, and that's all the context you need about her. She's played varying degrees of precocious teenagers and/or pregnant women on screen and stage. Writing has always been her outlet to deal with life—very original, first person to ever say that—and plays have become an exorcism for her. You can follow her on instagram @halchar, or contact her on her website hallecharlton.com, or send a carrier pigeon, but you'll have to DM her for her address.
